

Nadia Fisher is a African American and Italian illustrator based out of Washington, DC. Her work is inspired by her childhood, spent in Italy and DC, and her love of nature, family, and inclusion. She enjoys playing with bright colors and creating both heartwarming and playful scenes.

“ I LOVE all types of stories, and I'm drawn to heartfelt stories that empower young kids and celebrate diversity. One of my dream projects would be to illustrate a Little People Big Dreams book. ”

