

SOPHIE GILMORE is an honorary Londoner who works from a shed that could imminently collapse into the fox den beneath. She likes frogs and toads, and illustrations of the sun with a face. Sophie writes and illustrates surprise encounters, quiet strengths, and unruly emotions. She was a 2023 Sendak Fellow.

“ I HAVE A REAL SOFT SPOT for books that anthropomorphise the unexpected, like lava; discuss death in a tender or wry fashion; read like poetry; and/or are just so imaginative that I almost combust with the sheer admiration that they inspire. ”
